

Hollywood is beating its publicity drums for the new biblical film to be released later this year based on the novel "The Robe," a fine look as you know if you read it. But there is another biblical best-seller which I think is as good or better, "The Silver Chalice," by Thomas B. Costain.

It tells the story of the young sculptor who accompanied Luke and preserved the form and fashion of the Cup of the Last Supper.

And then there is Robert Hays' "The Sinner of Saint Am-brose."

All of these novels deal with the beginning of Christianity, and it is no coincidence that a fourth book which attained world-wide circulation far exceeding any of these also had a religious theme. I refer to "The Egyptian," by Mika Waltari.

It's the story of an early Egyptian pharaoh who promulgated the doctrine that there is but one God, and of course the temple priests killed him.

Waltari is a native of Finland, and his book circulated in the many languages of Europe to the equivalent of 3 1/2 million in America before it was actually published here a couple of years ago.

I mention all this because it is proof of the reading tastes of both Americans and foreigners, and now that Hollywood is filming "The Robe," after previous successful adventures with "Samson and Delilah" and "David and Bathsheba," it may be that these others also will reach the screen. They are all good stories, and worth telling.

You read on this page yesterday Governor Cherry's statement that a threatened suit to prohibit the payment of more than $5,000 salary to any state employee might break down the present structure of government.

Under specific attack is the $15,000 salary of State Highway Director Herbert Eldridge. State Senator Wiley Bean of Clarksville says he is going to take it into court on the grounds that the state constitution forbids payment of more than $5,000 a year to officials.

Governor Cherry makes a distinction between "officials" and "employees," presuming that the people elect "officials" but it is then up to the latter to find personnel with which to run the government.

And at the present market value of manpower it is nonsense to assume you are going to find competent state department heads at a $5,000 salary level.

If that's what the constitution means to say then it is infinitely more dangerous than the legislature at its most foolish moment.

We didn't have any roads when the constitution was written, so how can its legal mumbo-jumbo possibly be construed to tell us how much we've got to pay a highway director?

The same absurdity appears in the Medical School salary issue. Governor Cherry says if the $5,000 deadline is enforced "it would close up the Medical School." But the Medical School was virtually nonexistent when Arkansas' constitution was written, so what could those ancient lawyers have known about today's medical salary requirements?

Arkansas' constitution is obsolete, of course. But it will be up to the state supreme court to find a friendly interpretation in order to cover this emergency should the suit there be carried out.

A favorite phrase of lawyers is: "Time, the essence of the contract." Now the ironic twist is that today's lawyers on the supreme court have got to do some fancy parsing of their grandfathers' language all because time, for Arkansas' constitution, has run out absolutely.

Another Move Made to Save Atom Spies

NEW YORK (AP) — An application to vacate the death sentences of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atom spies, was filed in federal court today by Defense Counsel Emanuel H. Bloch.

Bloch contended that the death sentences imposed by Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman in April, 1951, were illegal and that the maximum penalty under the law should have been not more than 30 years in prison.

The attorney asked for a stay of execution pending a decision by the Court of Appeals after arguments on a hearing, scheduled for Monday.

There was no indication how soon the federal court would act on the application.

Bloch's latest move to save the couple accused of giving atom bomb secrets to Russia came after the U. S. Supreme Court refused Monday for the third time to intervene.

Further, Chief Justice Vinson yesterday denied a Bloch petition for a stay of execution for the Rosenbergs.

The Justice Department has indicated the Rosenbergs would have a chance to escape the Sing Sing electric chair if they told all they knew about espionage in the United States. They have contended they are innocent of spying.

Merchants to Hold Value Day June 2

Hope Value Day, scheduled for Tuesday, June 2, was the primary subject of discussion at the Wednesday morning Merchants' Breakfast.

Committee chairman reported that from indications, this first Hope Value Day Promotion, which is the first in a series of Community Hope Value Days, promises to be a very big event. Many stores have indicated their cooperation in the program and are making extensive plans for its successful promotion.

The committees urge all business houses who are participating to turn in ad copy to the newspaper and radio station by noon Friday as that is the deadline.

Anyone wishing further information on the Hope Value Day for Tuesday, June 2, is requested to contact Dewey Baber, Chairman of General Plans Committee, Harrell Hall, Chairman, Retail Committee, or the Chamber of Commerce office.

Other matters discussed at the weekly breakfast meeting included today's visit of the Retail Merchants to the Arkansas Machine Specialty Company and future visits to local industries and plants in our immediate territory.

The group authorized the secretary to contact Glenn Wallace, State Highway Commission member and Mr. Eldridge, State Highway Department Director to come to Hope for a speaking engagement in the very near future.

British Nightclubbing Is Very Expensive and American Pocketbooks Take a Pounding

LONDON (AP) — The museums and art galleries here all close by dusk. This leaves only one place for culture-hungry American visitors to go after dark—a night club.

It is a poor place, however, to study the English in their native haunt.

Most night clubs during this coronation prelude are inhabited solely by American tourists, except for an occasional lost and wandering Australian. Only a wealthy Englishman can afford to go and laugh at the Americans at play.

Night clubs are pretty much the same the world around, and those here are noted for their strict adherence. To a mellow old British tradition of longstanding—that is, the house never buys a drink.

It is hard, indeed, even for a customer to buy what passes for an ordinary drink in America. The bartender doesn't use a sifter. He uses a tumbler, and the tumbler would be tight on the finger of a lady midge.

After he pours a drink, the waiter tries desperately to rush it to the table before it evaporates. Most Americans order "a double Scotch" and in most night clubs this one will wet most of the

Enemy Jets Refuse to Fight Sabers

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP) — Scores of Allied fighter-bombers pounded Communist communication and supply lines across North Korea without opposition today as badly beaten Red MIG jets refused to fight.

Deadly sweep-wing Sabre jets streaked through overcast skies to fatten their bag of 51 MIGs shot down this month. Sabres destroyed 12 Red jets and damaged another without losing a plane in sky battles yesterday, the Air Force said.

Some MIGs overflew south of the Yalu River dividing Manchuria and Korea today, but none would fight.

Solid overcast covered MIG Alley in Northwest Korea between 10,000 and 20,000 feet. Red pilots usually avoid combat in overcast skies.

Hospital Fund Slash to Hit Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Hospital Director Moody Moore said today three major hospital projects in Arkansas would be seriously crippled if the U. S. Senate approves a House cut in hospital appropriations.

The House yesterday passed an appropriation for 50 million dollars instead of the 75 million former President Truman proposed and the 60 million President Eisenhower requested. The Public Health Service said Arkansas' share would be trimmed about $465,000 if the Senate goes along with the cut.

Moore said the proposed cut would also delay indefinitely eight other planned local hospitals which would have a total cost of two million dollars.

Russia Kills Four Alleged American Spies

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet press announced today the execution of four American spies charged with being dropped by parachute from an unmarked U. S. bomber on Ukrainian soil last April 26 with espionage equipment.

Izvestia, the government organ, and other Moscow newspapers devoted two columns of type to a communique from the ministry of internal security announcing the four had been shot to death.

The communique identified the men as Aleksandr Lakhno, Aleksandr Dmitriyev, Sergei Gorbunov and Dmitriy Remiga. They were tried by a military tribunal of the Supreme court of the Soviet Union.

According to the communique, Lakhno and Makoy, who were caught immediately, were saboteurs who gave fictitious names of "Vasil Vasilchenko" and "Leonide Mackovsky" respectively.

The ministry said the four men were agents of the Nazis during World War II. Lakhno, the communique said, was unmasked as a traitor who betrayed five Soviet patriots to the Germans who had them shot.

Lakhno and Makoy "confessed they were parachuted into Soviet territory by American intelligence with diversionist terrorist assignments," the communique said.

Lakhno and Makoy testified the two other agents, who were arrested on the same day, had been given the nicknames "John" and "Dick" by the Americans. Lakhno said his nickname was "Alec" and Makoy was "Phil."

Sen. Taft Advises U.S. to Get Out of UN, Go It Alone as Ike Stresses Importance

Support of UN Principle Asked by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower laid new stress on American and Allied support of United Nations principles in the Korean truce talks at almost the same time Sen. Taft was saying last night: "We might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean War is concerned."

How much — if any — of a split this indicated between the views of the two top Republicans was not immediately clear today.

The White House would not talk about any subject related to that question.

"I am not going to elaborate on the President's statement," Press Secretary James C. Hagerty replied to questioners at his news conference.

Hagerty added there would be no White House comment on the Taft remarks which were in a speech read for the senator in Cincinnati. Taft himself is in a Cincinnati hospital for a checkup.

Eisenhower's comments were in a statement which the White House said was issued to clear up unspecified misunderstandings. They were a quick follow-up, whether intentionally or not, to a semi-formal complaint from South Korea that the latest Western proposal for peace terms in that country are "completely unsatisfactory."

The Hoopes Manufacturing Plant located its plant in Hope in November, 1951 and soon was in operation and production of packaged playground equipment.

This industry is housed in buildings in the industrial area of the Proving Ground and has grown to considerable portions. Production at this time is about two carloads per day of the playground equipment.

The Retail Merchants Group recently visited the Hoopes Manufacturing Company and saw the plant in operation and was conducted on a tour by Mr. Austin Hudson, Mr. Bender, who operates the plant, states that at the present time, he is operating three shifts with about 300 employees, and further states that his annual payroll is approximately $200,000.

The gym sets, manufactured and shipped as Bender Playground Equipment, are shipped from the plant into Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, Missouri, Southern Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

Such items as trapeze bars and teeter board sets and other wooden accessories are purchased by the Hoopes Manufacturing Company from local wood working plants. The Split Hickory Company is the supplier of the trapeze bars used in the Hoopes Manufacturing Company in the gym sets. Swing seats and other accessories of wood are purchased from the Southwest Wood Products Company. A great deal of the metal work and other such processes are done by Arkansas Machine Specialty Company and Cox Brothers Foundry and Machine Shop. Other than the wooden parts mentioned above, Mr. Bender states that his product is completely manufactured of steel. Approximately a carload of steel is used per day.

Good working conditions and facilities were the important factors in Mr. Bender's opening up his plant here in Hope. The plant had expanded into the manufacturing of metal slides and the building which housed this operation burned on March 29. Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and the city of Hope, Mr. Bender states that his slide plant will be back into full operation about July 1 in a building formerly occupied by the Caddo Machine Works. According to Mr. Bender, something over 100 people will be employed in this operation.

UN Plan Proposes Only Indian Troops Guard Prisoners, U. S. Tries to Soothe S. Koreans

By MICHAEL J. O'NEILL

WASHINGTON (UP) — The new United Nations plan for a Korean armistice proposes that only Indian troops be sent to Korea to guard prisoners refusing to be sent home following a truce, informed sources reported today.

The U. N. plan rejects the Communist proposal that Communist Polish and Czech troops be dispatched to Korea to guard the unwilling prisoners.

The Allies — and particularly South Korea — had objected to the presence of large numbers of Red troops at prison camps. They fear the Reds will intimidate or coerce prisoners rejecting communism.

However, the Allies will go along with previous plans to appoint a neutral five-nation commission that would supervise the handling of the prisoners, the sources said. The commission would be made up of representatives of Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and India.

Interrogation of prisoners would be permitted by the Communists under supervision of this neutral commission. But only India would supply armed prison guards, it was said.

Details of the U. N. plan began unfolding here after President Eisenhower stated last night that prisoners would not be repatriated by force nor would they be "coerced or intimidated in any way."

By LEROY HANSEN

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — United States diplomatic and military officials teamed today in attempting to end an angry revolt of the South Korean government against the new United Nations truce proposals.

American Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs conferred with Korean President Syngman Rhee while Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commanding the 8th army, conferred with Korean defense Minister Shin Tae Yung.

The South Koreans have not disclosed publicly their reasons for opposition to the truce proposals — opposition so bitter that it conceivably could block the signing of an armistice.

But it is reported that they want, first, to get all Chinese Communist troops out of Korea after an armistice has been concluded, and second to leave the way clearly open for the later unification of South and North Korea.

GOPs Seek Aid in Fight Over Air Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders have decided to appeal for now help from President Eisenhower in a battle with congressional Democrats opposing a five billion dollar slash in Air Force fund requests.

Their decision came after Secretary of Defense Wilson reportedly came under critical fire by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and some others at a Senate Republican Policy Committee meeting yesterday.

Mrs. Smith, also a member of the armed services and appropriations committees, was quoted by colleagues as having contended that Wilson had "brushed off" senators and had not explained satisfactorily how the fund cuts would be applied.

The woman senator has addressed a series of pointed questions at Wilson, who said he didn't believe that she would press for answers on all of them.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.) said House Democrats meanwhile have begun their own study of Eisenhower's proposal to slash Air Force funds.

Rep. McCracken of Massachusetts, deputy Democratic floor leader, would not say whether a concerted party attack will be launched. But he said a continuing Continued on Page Six

Surprise Address Direct Conflict With Set Policy

CINCINNATI (AP) — In a surprise major foreign policy speech, Sen. Taft said the United States "might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean War is concerned."

"I think we should do our best now to negotiate this truce," he said, "and if we fail, then let England and our other allies know that we are withdrawing from all future peace negotiations in Korea."

Taft went even further. The Senate majority leader added:

"I believe we might as well abandon any idea of working with the United Nations in the years to reserve to ourselves a complete freedom of hand."

WASHINGTON, May 27—Arkansas will have to cut back its hospital and health center building program if the Senate accepts the House approved appropriation for the hospital program.

As approved by the House yesterday the program is given 50 million dollars for the year starting July 1. Last year Congress voted 67.7 million dollars.

Former President Truman recommended 75 million for the next year; in April the Eisenhower budget trimmed this to 60 million. The House yesterday approved 60 million, but rejected 602 to 167 a Democratic move to hike the amount to 75 million.

The Public Health Service said that Arkansas' share of the 50 million fund will be $1,095,000, compared with $1,000,000 under a 75-million-dollar program.

A spokesman for the agency said Arkansas might have some difficulty since the state authority already has committed itself to a $1,040,230 program—nearly $50,000 more than will be available.

Bramblett Deal Probed by Jury

WASHINGTON (UP)—A federal grand jury today launched an investigation of possible false statements made by Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Cal.) in connection with his office staff and payroll.

Assistant U. S. Attorney William Becker and William Hiltz called three Californians as the first witnesses in the inquiry, which Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. announced May 18.

The three are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hildway of Santa Barbara and Mrs. Gladys Dean of Pacific Grove. Hildway was a campaign manager for Bramblett when the latter was vice chairman for his fourth term in Congress last fall. Mrs. Hildway also was on the congressional West Coast staff. Mrs. Dean, a dry store employee, carried a check that figures in the controversy.

The jury, which is expected to go secret testimony until early next week, will hear several other witnesses, including two House of Representatives who deal with payroll and check-cashing services tomorrow.

Kingdom of Britain Set for Coronation

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (UP)—The far-flung lands of the British Commonwealth were uppermost in the thoughts of Queen Elizabeth II today as coronation preparations swirled ever faster.

From Buckingham Palace this morning she saw an unfamiliar spectacle. Gone were the black beret and red tunics of the Grenadier Guards, and on sentry duty were 54 smart Australians in khaki uniforms and upturned slouch hats. They are the pick of an Australian military contingent here for the coronation next Tuesday.

Troops from Pakistan were to take over from the Aussies, with guards from the other Commonwealth nations following.

The changing multi-national parade symbolized a day being devoted by the young monarch to the widespread lands her crown links with England. It symbolized, too, their continuing devotion to the crown, continuing despite the nationalistic strains of recent years.

For the first time in history, representatives of the Commonwealth Parliaments feasted a British sovereign being crowned, at a luncheon in Westminster Hall.

It was in the hall, at coronations of long ago, that the Sovereign's Defender, a helmeted man on a horse, offered to fight personally anyone challenging the sovereign's right to reign.

series of Democratic speeches against the latest at least "pre-emptive" move.

Rep. Hallock of Indiana, the Republican floor leader, said in a separate interview he was going to support the President's budget substantially as it is.

Kilday, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said he intended to fight the proposed cuts. He said that they would throw the Air Force out of balance with the other services.

Sen. Young (R-Id.), a policy committee member who has been critical of the proposed reduction, said he believes the President will have to supplement his defense of the cuts made in a radio address to the nation last week.

"If the President will come out and say personally that the program he has outlined for the Air Force is what we need for our security, I will go along with his judgment," Young said.

Ford Goes GM One Better

By GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT 2—The Ford Motor Company did General Motors one better in voluntarily revising its five-year contract with the CIO United Auto workers early today by giving the union the best major pension plan in the industry—a maximum of $137.50 a month.

Before it did so, however, Ford demanded and was given assurance that the crippling strike of UAW workers at its Canton, O., force plant would be halted immediately. That five-week-old blow had idled 25,000 of Ford's 153, production workers and virtually shut down the vast Ford production system.

For and the UAW wound up two long days of secret, top-level negotiations by formally announcing the contract changes shortly after midnight. Ford president Henry Ford II and UAW and CIO President Walter P. Reuther led the talks.

placed on the altar. Mrs. Conrad Farrell provided a program of nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her charming lace over satin gown had a scoop neckline with an illusion yoke and the full skirt swept into a train. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl studded illusion lattice work Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of lilacs of the valley centered with an orchid.

She was attended by her sisters, Miss Jane Scott and Mrs. Robert P. Taylor, Jr. Their smoky blue silk organza frocks had full ballerina length skirts and off-shoulder necklines edged with bertha. They carried bouquets of American beauty roses.

Little Miss Marie Scott Taylor, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short white or-gandy dress and carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses.

DOROTHY DIX

Won't Budget Income

Dear Miss Dix: We have a fine son, 35 years old, who has one serious fault — he has never learned to budget his income. He has always spent more than he made. Now, he is going with a girl of 20, has given her a diamond ring bought with money borrowed on his insurance and, although he has a good job, he seems to me a precarious matrimonial risk. The girl doesn't know he has borrowed money, doesn't know he is in debt elsewhere, and believes he earns more than he does. We expect trouble when, after they are married, the girl learns he owes money. Do you think the girl should be told now the true facts?

Relies on Pleasure

Answer: The young lady certainly should be informed of her fiancé's money difficulties, but I doubt if you'll get any thanks for your interest. She is apparently concerned chiefly with having a good time, and once she realizes that marriage with your son is not going to be a round of pleasure, there is no doubt but that she'll break the engagement. If you are willing to incur your son's displeasure to save him and the girl from future unhappiness, tell her the truth.

The ability to accept financial responsibility is a "must" in the making of a good marriage. Though lack of it in one partner may be made up by exceptional financial acumen in the other, lack of it in both pretends trouble.

When deceit is added as a further complication, there is no chance that either your son or his fiancée will be happy after marriage.

Dear Miss Dix: Although I am considered attractive, I rarely have dates. I'm a high-school junior, and feel very unhappy when my girl friends discuss their beaux and I have nothing to contribute to the conversation. Can you give me any advice?

Answer: Some girls just take a little longer to impress their personalities upon eligible young men, but looking hopefully into the future, is cold comfort when one wants dates NOW. I can suggest some inexpensive pamphlets to speed up your dating quotient. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring the list to you, together with my own leaflet "The Way To A Boy's Heart."

Dear Miss Dix: I am much interested in art and would like to know how to contact a group with the same hobby.

Answer: Many city high schools now have evening classes open to all. Why not enroll in one? You will also find fellow hobbyists at the Y. W. C. A., or similar organizations in your town.

Dear Miss Dix: After wearing my class ring for several months, Vincent, gave it back to me the other night with no explanation. I love him. I am sure he felt the same way about me, but now I have no doubts. I'm 15 and he's 2 years older.

Answer: Vincent's action was certainly very rude, but you must realize that, at 17, most boys haven't learned how to handle their emotional problems. You are entitled to an explanation and should ask him for one. Don't be belligerent about it; make the approach as tactfully as possible.

Dear Miss Dix: The boy I like just broke up with his girl friend because she went to the movies with someone else. Do you think I have a chance to get him?

Answer: Don't be too eager to move into another girl's territory. This was probably just a lover's quarrel. If you attempt to take over at this point, the boy may date you for awhile, then go back to the other girl, leaving you desolate. Better find an unattached boy.

What Must You Do After an Accident?
Within 5 days after a motor vehicle accident resulting in death or injury, or property damage exceeding $100, the driver of every car involved must file a written report with the Department of Revenues. Official forms for this purpose may be obtained from Department of Revenues.

Can You Lose Your Motoring Privileges?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Morse (D-Ore), who bolted the Republican Party in the 1952 election campaign, found himself at the extreme foot of the table today on Senate committee assignments.

With his former GOP colleagues almost solid against him, the senator yesterday rejected 50 - 16 Morse's five-month fight to get back his old assignments on two major committees - Labor and Armed Services.

When his resolution was beaten, Morse made no further effort to block his assignment to the committee which the Republican Senate majority left for him last January - Public Works and District of Columbia. Most senators consider those groups far less desirable than labor and armed services.

The Oregon senator had been on the Labor Committee for all of his eight years in the Senate prior to this session, and on Armed Services or its predecessor for seven of those years. On Public Works and District of Columbia, Morse will be at the bottom of the list in priority.

He has been arguing since January that his seniority entitled him to go back to Labor and Armed Services.

But the reply from the GOP was that seniority applied only within a party, not to the Senate as a whole. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told him yesterday that the GOP this session had tried to get the best possible committee jobs for its 46 members, and leave for Morse only what no one else wanted. Each senator is entitled to at least two committee posts.

Brownell Is Elated Over Security Plan

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's new security program goes into effect today and Attorney General Brownell, who drew it up, is confident about it. He has predicted all security risks will be under government by autumn.

In his April 27 order setting up the program, Eisenhower explained its purpose: to see that all government employees shall be "reliable, trustworthy, of good conduct and character and of complete loyalty to the United States."

This covers wide ground. And Eisenhower has given all agency heads each of whom must establish the program in his own shop, broad authority to decide the standards by which employees will be judged.

Because of this, the new program may be a little tougher on individual employees than the old loyalty-security program of former President Truman. From the way it's set up it should work faster than the Truman program.

Eisenhower has instructed the Civil Service Commission to keep a constant check to see that the program is working well and at the same time is fair.

Truman's program was really two programs, one covered employees of one-tenth loyalty; the other handled security risks — employees who might be completely loyal but might jeopardize national security. In the latter case, they held a sensitive job but drank or talked too much or had some other shortcoming.

Eisenhower has lumped both programs under one. He has also ordered that "whereas employees formerly could be considered security risks in only about 10 agencies, like the Defense Department or the Atomic Energy Commission, the new program covers all employees in all agencies."

Under the Truman loyalty program an accused man got a hearing before a board made up of officials within his own agency. If a decision was made that he was questionable, to agency head then upheld the board and fired him.

If fired by agency head, the accused employee had one further appeal: to the loyalty review board made up of prominent citizens chosen by the President, and not connected with any agency.

The Eisenhower program completely abolishes this board. It will have a few months to clean up old cases, but thereafter the agency head will be the final authority. This is the procedure:

An accused man gets a hearing before a board with his own agency. If the board might be made up of the accused man's friends from within his own agency, from now on the board members will be government employees from other agencies and more probably strangers to him.

No matter what conclusion the board reaches, the agency head can make the final decision on whether the accused man stays or goes.

Under the Truman security risk program a man accused of drinking too much or talking too much while he worked in a sensitive job, dealt first with a board made up of people from his own agency. The agency head made the final decision on whether he kept the job or was fired.

Under the Eisenhower program the only real change here in the case of a security risk head of the board will be made up of government employees from other agencies.

Under the new program, as under the old, a man fired on loy-

Russia Won't Open Austria Peace Talks

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union has turned down a Western invitation to reopen talks tomorrow on an Austrian independence treaty. President Eisenhower had called for Soviet agreement to such a pact as a sign of the "sincere intent" of Russia's post-Stalin peace talk.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik, who also is ambassador to Britain, spurned the Allied offer to reopen the long-stalemate negotiations in a letter to the general secretary of the Big Four's Deputy Foreign Ministers. The letter was published today in Moscow newspapers and broadcast by Moscow radio.

There was no immediate official reaction to the brusque London in Washington, London or Paris.

Britain on May 11 had asked the other nations concerned with the treaty — the U. S. France and the Soviet Union — to reopen the talks here tomorrow. The deputies have met already 259 times — the last time Feb. 6 — during the past five years in unsuccessful efforts to write a treaty which would give Austria complete independence.

Malik's reply said the Austrian question should be considered "through diplomatic channels by means of a relevant exchange of opinions" but did not specify further what he meant by this.

He said also that the meetings of the Deputy Foreign Ministers in Austria were "not a permanent four power organ" and that they should be convened by the Council of Foreign Ministers of the Big Four powers; a group organized at the 1945 Potsdam Conference.

ally grounds got no other government job. Under the new program, as under the old, a man found to be a security risk in one kind of job can be transferred by his agency head to another.

The emphasis here is on "can be." The agency head decides whether to security risk is to be bounced or transferred to another job.
